

ICVS Animal Health Care Hotline

The International Center for Veterinary Services (ICVS) is available to help answer your questions and to provide assistance regarding general animal health care and pet care concerns, including legal requirements from government agencies and issues of epidemic disease control, with a legally registered and appointed professional from the animal disease control and prevention bureaus.

ICVS can help you to file and report any suspicious cases to the animal disease control and prevention bureaus through the legal process as required by law. ICVS will also help you to obtain first hand information regarding these epidemic disease alerts through official sources.

Your cooperation and support in reporting any of these epidemic disease risks will keep our community healthy and safe. Reporting these epidemic disease risks is also required by law.
